

It's impossible to appreciate where we are today, both our humanity and planet, without an understanding of our ancient past and origins.

It's equally impossible to acquire this knowledge without exploring beyond the barriers which conventional science has established. Whether due to ignorance or arrogance!

The Lost Lemuria by W. Scott-Elliot, 1904

<https://afh137.com/books/lemuria.pdf>

"But not even geological epochs, it will be observed, are assigned to the maps. If, however, an inference may be drawn from all the evidence before us, it would seem probable that the older of the two Lemurian maps represented the earth's configuration from the Permian, through the Triassic and into the Jurassic epoch, while the second map probably represents the earth's configuration through the Cretaceous and into the Eocene period." p.14

Page 23 provides a description of the Lemurian Man.

Here's the older map.

 I recently watched the 60 Minutes program which aired on 4/20/25.

It contained an interview with Demis Hassabis. He runs the Google DeepMind AI research project.

On 6/4/25 I reached out to 416 individuals involved, in some way, in the AI field. My interest with them had to do with the issue of consciousness.

Here's that email: <https://afh137.com/consciousness.pdf>

I made the comment:

"He raised a number of issues which caught my attention. In particular, finding the answers to those 'biggest questions'. Something which I've had an interest in since my mid 20s. I'm now well beyond those years BUT I have found a few answers."

I'm now going to reach out to a few of you but relative to the fields of Anthropology and Geosciences.

Atlantis: A Geographical, Historical and Ethnological Sketch by W. Scott-Elliot, 1896

<https://afh137.com/books/atlantis.pdf>

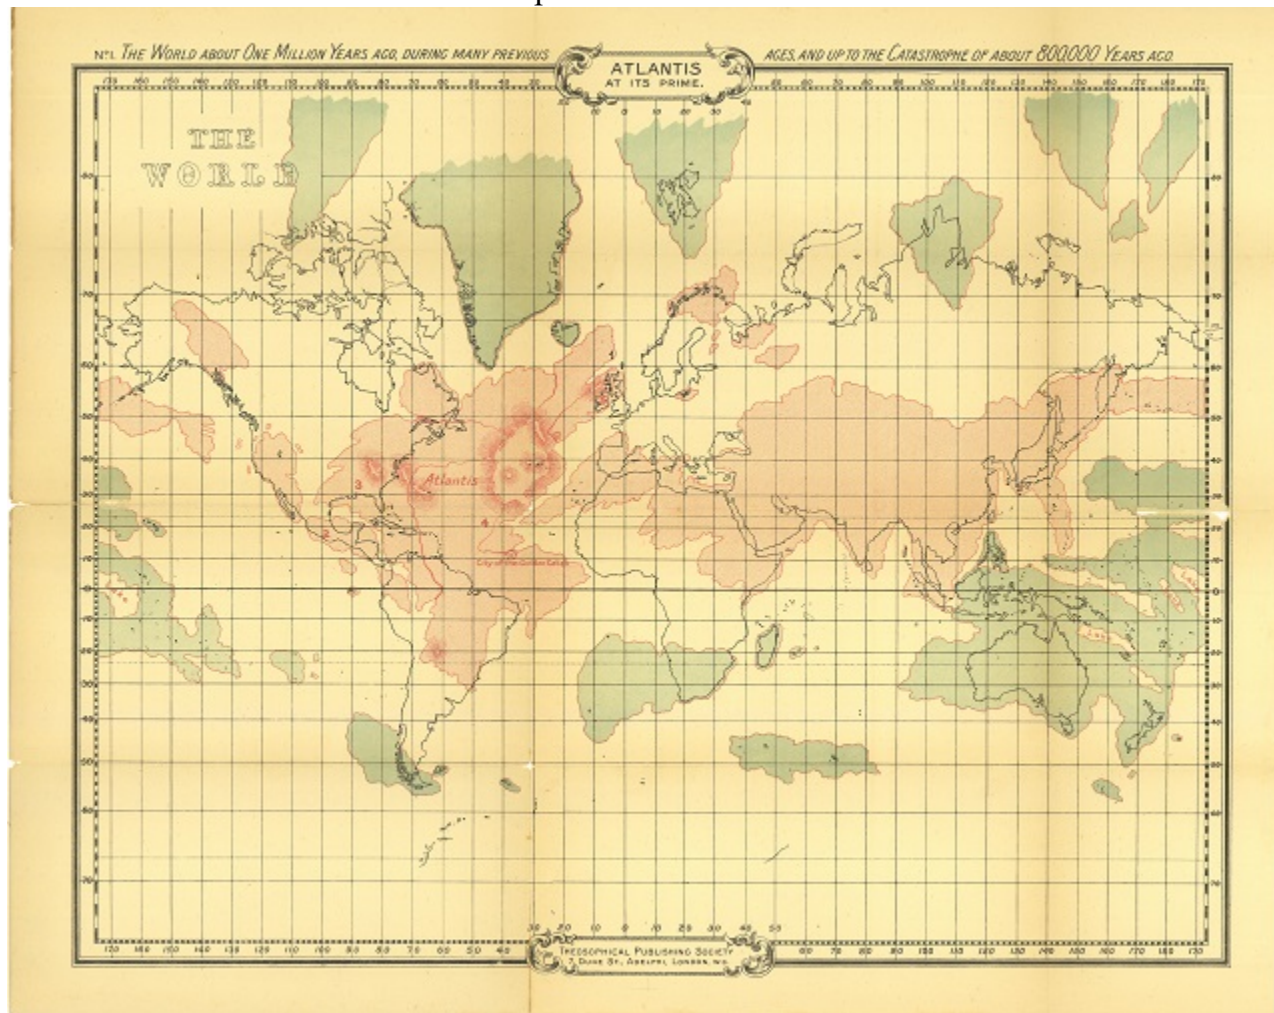

"Following where necessary the history of the Race through the four periods represented by the four maps, it is proposed to divide the subject under the following headings:

1. Origin and territorial location of the different sub-races.
2. The political institutions they respectively evolved.
3. Their emigrations to other parts of the world.
4. The arts and sciences they developed.
5. The manners and customs they adopted.
6. The rise and decline amongst them of religious ideas.

The names of the different sub-races must first be given—

1. Rmoahal.
2. Tlavatli.
3. Toltec.
4. First Turanian.
5. Original Semite.
6. Akkadian.
7. Mongolian." p. 20

Here's the oldest of the 4 Atlantean maps

There will be seven Root-Races: Adamic, Hyperborean, Lemurian, Atlantean, Aryan and two yet to come.

Each Root Race has/will produce seven sub-races and each of these seven family races.

For example: 4th Root Race—Atlantean, 7th Sub-race—Mongolian, 7th Family Race—Japanese.

The 6th Sub-race of the Aryan Root-Race is taking shape in N. America.

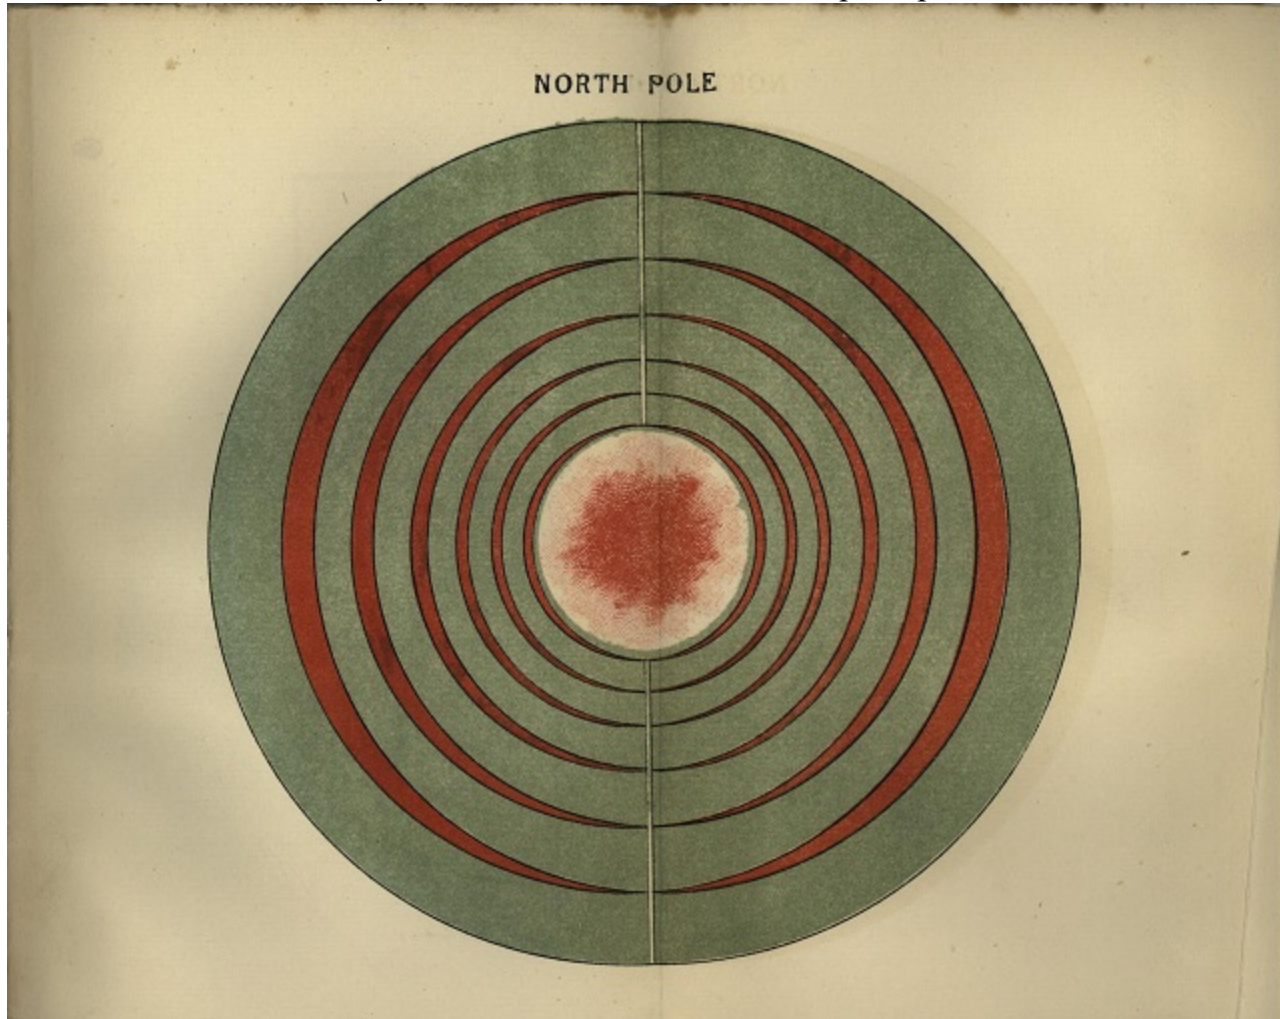

Its 1st Sub-race was born in what is today the India/Pakistan region.

The Constitution of the Earth by A.P. Sinnett, 1903

<https://afh137.com/books/tcote.pdf>

"It has been vaguely known by occult students for a long time that in the neighbourhood of the North Pole there is a natural orifice in the ground penetrating to inconceivable depths. This wonderful shaft has been regarded as fulfilling some mysterious need of the Earth, analogous to breathing, and it has been supposed that a similar shaft connects the South Pole with the interior, though this is even more impenetrably guarded by the ice of the Antarctic region from the curiosity of humanity than the orifice of the North." pp. 19-20

Both Earth and Mars have polar caps so seeing this orifice is not possible though hints of it can be seen in some of the Mars photos. Such is not the case with Mercury. Go online and take a look at its polar photos.

There are 3 approaches which can be taken towards what is above:

- 1). Ignore it, it's beneath your status to consider.
- 2). Following these leads would cause too many ripples which you don't want to deal with.
- 3). Give the material a chance to prove itself.

In the 1st case you have arrogance, in the 2nd cowardice and in the 3rd wisdom.

The following is a list of those who I have reached out to so far.
